The Learning Commons is in full swing and it is a pleasure to have your children here! I love watching their eyes open to the world around them as they learn to read, and you can help further this effort by creating a time in the evening where they can read alone or with someone for 15-20 minutes. This also help them reach their AR goal, as the goal is calculated based on that reading time at home and the level of books they are reading.

Thanks for investing in your child's future!
